ACE

50.6°N | -1.9°W

ACE is a rare opportunity to reside on one of the most desirable stretches of coast in Great Britain. It is perfectly positioned between Sandbanks' vibrant harbour and tranquil golden beaches.

Simultaneously designed to reflect the energy and relaxed atmosphere of its seafront location, this collection of three and four-bedroom apartments offers uninterrupted views, letting you make the most of life in this distinguished setting.

HARBOUR LIVING

50.6°N | -1.9°W

From one side, ACE looks across Poole Harbour. A stroll along the harbourside will take you towards the peak of Sandbanks Peninsula, where views of the National Trust's Brownsea Island can be enjoyed.

The area is well-populated with sailing clubs and water sports events. Windsurfers, paddleboarders and kayakers are regularly out on the water, while the sailing opportunities have drawn the prestigious Royal Motor Yacht Club to base itself in Sandbanks.

After a day on the water, head out for an evening meal at one of the restaurants lining the peninsula. Rick Stein's restaurant serves some of the best seafood in the country, while the Boatyard Café offers a seasonal menu, with fresh ingredients sourced from local suppliers.

ON THE BEACH

50.6°N | -1.9°W

ACE also looks over Sandbanks beach and out across the English Channel. With its golden sand and gentle waves, the beach is one of the most treasured on the south coast.

From morning walks on the warm sand to barbecues during the long summer evenings, the beach is your own coastal garden. Head for a cup of coffee at the Sandbanks Beach Café or catch some music and enjoy the views from the Jazz Café on Shore Road.

In the summer, Sandbanks welcomes the British Beach Polo Championships. Transforming the west side of the beach into a lively arena, this event attracts riders and spectators from across the country.
